Captured Rebel Documents. The Times's special from Raleigh, the 18th says that the records of the rebel War Department, surrendered by General Johnston, reached that place on the 16th. There is eighty three boxes and the total weight is probably eight tons, and filled six wagons. One box, marked "Papers and Books, General Lee's Headquarters," contained 'origina drafts of Lee's reports of battle's and campaigns, and other papers of some importance. The original report of the Gettysburg campaign was found a is besides several other manuscripts in Gan. Lee's own hard writing. Another box is marked "Official reports of Battles A. and J. G." and a largements are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, box labelled "Telegraphs and Telegraph Books," and is good for men, women and children, which will ar constedly give a good deal of history of the recent workings of the rebet Government, as some of the dispatches are supposed to pertain to the secret service. Large boxes containing fligs and colors, captured from different regiments of our army are also included in the lot. The Commercial's Washington letter announces' the arrival of the rebel archives. A strong clerical force has been detailed to examine it at once, as i is n' timprobable that strong proof may be secured of the com Feity of J. ff Davis and his associates with the assassination.

Additional particulars have also been procured from Canada, and there are strong indications that Jeff Davis will be tried as an accessory to President Lincoln's murder.

Our Duty.

We can refer to the columns of the Journal for abundant evidence that we have always aided everyeffort in behalf of our country's noble defenders. There are some facts, however, that we think ought to be understood by our people before they go too for in sending their contributions away from our own State. We are informed that effor's are being made to procure large contributions in Indiana in aid of the great Northwestern Sanitary Fair soon to be held in Chicago. Now, while it is probable that a portion of the proceeds of this Fair will be sent to the army, it is quite certain that the great bulk thereof will be apolled to the erection of a magnificent Soldiers' Home in Chicago. Our people are aware that in accordance with the call | of our Governor, a movement is just being inaugurated in our State for the creation of a Home for our noble Indiana soldiers as soon as it can be accomplished. In view of these facts we would suggest to our people that the adage that "charity becase, and that while they extend to the people of our sister State all aid that can consistently be afforded, they begin by sending a liberal contribution to aid this effort in behalf of our own Inciana boys. -Ind. Journal.

A Present Declined.

New York, 21. - Pres. Johnson has respectfully declined the proffered coach and span of horses tendered him by the merchants of this city, for the reason that he has ever held that those occupying high official positions should not necept such presents. He asks, however, that he be permitted to retain the parchment conveying the s miments of the donors, regaring it as a mark of high respect from friends and loyal citizens."

Hearing Both Sides.

The wealthiest church in Boston, probably is the "Old South," which worships in an edifice built before the revolutionary war, has two ministers, and supports a chapel for the poor. The two pastors (both alike orthodox) who are said to be on the best of terms socially, are diametrically opposed to each other on many of the important practical questions. Dr. Blagden, the senior, (whose wife is a sister of Wendell Puillins,) is a Virginian by birth, and a .inveterate old fogy, who floats at all the modern ideas of progress and reform, and for thirty years has been a steady apologist for slavery.

Mr. Manning, the junior pastor, on the other hand, is a radical abolitionist of the John Brown type, and of course an active worker in retorm. Each of these preachers occupies the pul it at stated times. When Dr. Blagden preaches, the disretic, old fogies flock to the "sanctuary" for their spiritual food; and when Mr. Manning is expected to hold forth, the young people crowd the house, to hear | And it is certain to have the desired effect in all diseases one of the most eloquent as well as progressive ministers in the city. The saluries of the two are paid from a common fund, and if popular rumor does not speak false, this novel arrangement works without any uncomfortable friction

A remarkable illustration of the advantages arising from a double pastorate, is mentioned by a recent Boston paper. A few Subbaths ago, Dr. Blagden, the senior pastor of the "Old South," preached a sermon in favor of the moderate use of stimulants thoroughly believing in temperance. but not in total abstinence, save for those who have not the moral force to be temperate. On a sabbath evening, soon afterward. Mr. Manning, the funior pastor, delivered a powerful discourse, taking the most emphatic ground in favor of total abstinence as the only safe course, and showing the evils resulting from other teachings. The congregation with such opportunities of hearing the great practical questions of the day discussed on both sides, ought to be able, certainly, to form an intelligent judgment in such matters .- Anti Slavery Standard.
